CONSTRUCTION 2030 - MARKET & FUTURE | LATEST TECHNOLOGIES INNOVATIONS | SUPPLY CHAIN | INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Steel Structures is a huge segment of the steel industry which caters to various constructional engineering segments and many other steel mixtures. Steel building insulation and composite systems are also the new techniques of having innovative and cheaper pre-engineering constructions. Applications of Structural Steel come in many industries including construction, automotive, agriculture, defence and many more.

Structure steel and steel building insulation go together. Hence there is also a need for new technologies and techniques using sustainable materials.

Therefore, ASBSC 2020 aims at providing a platform where all the industry professionals (manufacturers, material suppliers, engineers & architects) can come together and build a pure business network.
